Ryder - In his guilt testimony (11 H225) Liebeler, in limiting the extent of his was carefully not to ask Ryder if the wife he worked on, refused entry to have worked on, for a name giving the name of Oswald was in retrospect not Oswald. This is not why Liebeler, but is also pointed to by the fact that Ryder testified he believed he had never seen the real Oswald.

This is. This possibility was considered in the interrogation of Ryder's boss C. W. Greener. Greener expressed full confidence in Ryder as his employee, & generally showed that he trusted him with the business & his funds
